

Get it Right First Time, Every Time

When installing a new plumbing system you need to be certain that everything is compliant right from the start. Rectification can be extremely costly, so it is vital that you have the correct advice at the earliest possible stage.

Water regulations are there to help your business run in a safe and efficient manner. However, keeping up to date with a constantly evolving field can often prove to be challenging.

Safe Water Consultancy can help advise your business on how to reach compliance straight away, saving you both time and money.

Our experts will help guide you through the process, giving you the peace of mind that your build or refurbishment will not incur any lengthy delays or expensive refits further down the line.

The benefits are not only financial. Once your system is deemed fully compliant you will also be meeting your duty of care requirements to your customers and staff.

Local water companies are performing regular checks on company premises. Make sure your business is compliant by giving us a call today.

Our Service

All of our consultants are former water regulations inspectors. Their expertise will help your business pass inspection first time, every time.

During their visit they will be able to advise you on:

- Undue consumption
- Wastage
- Contamination
- Misuse
- Erroneous measurement
- Legionella Compliance (ACOP L8)
