

Water is Precious

It can be easy to forget just how lucky we are to have regular access to clean, fresh water. Millions of people worldwide go without safe water and sanitation, while we think nothing of leaving a dripping tap unrepaired for months on end.

Water efficiency is important, which is why the Water Fittings Regulations were introduced in 1999. It is now your legal, and arguably moral, duty to comply with these regulations.

Is your company doing the right thing?
